HOLESHOT HOOKUP

Patent 7051852

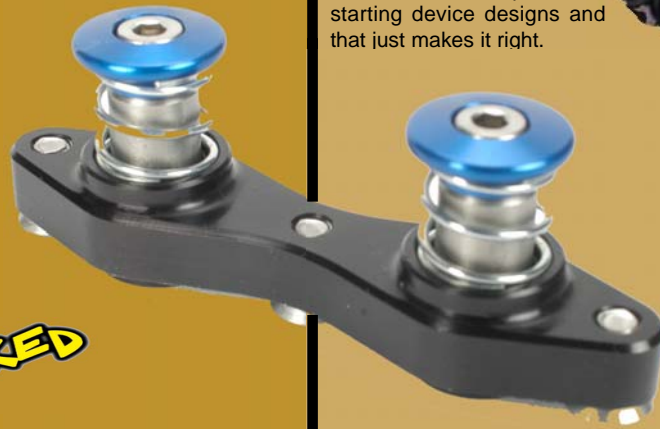

Tamer is unique in regards to the starting device World. We are the only company that offers the double button system. This innovative design has proven time and time again that not every starting line is the same and the double system allows you a choice of positions depending on the starting line terrain. The double gives you options. Every racer uses some type of starting device now so why not have one more advantage over your competition with the Tamer double button system.

Plus Tamer has the patent on starting device designs and that just makes it right.

HOLESHOT

Fork Guard Bracket

Tamer's new Holeshoot fork guard bracket ensures stability for your fork guard while using any holeshoot device on the market. The forces applied to your fork guard by any starting device will rip the guard off of the forks and the Holeshoot fork guard bracket will prevent this. A must for anyone who uses a starting device.
